ACHC is a publicly funded community health center founded in 1977 by Hunter Adams, M.D. His mission was to create a health center that did not have the atmosphere of an institution, but was a place where people can begin to heal the mind, body, and spirit as part of a caring community.

In 2005, ACHC established new standards for quality management to assess services by medical providers. With a highly trained staff of medical personnel, ACHC has become the center for testing, treatment, and care for individuals who are infected with or affected by HIV/AIDS in Anytown, OH and the surrounding area. Services provided at ACHC's facilities include:

- Ambulatory/outpatient medical care
- Mental health
- Oral health care
- Substance abuse
- Rehabilitation
- Case management
- Buddy/companion
- Health education/risk education
- Outreach
- Transportation

- HIV counseling and testing

As a Title III grantee, ACHC provides primary health care services to eligible individuals. ACHC also offers counseling, testing, and partner notification services on a confidential/anonymous basis. As a Title II service provider for the Ohio Department of Health, ACHC provides planning, technical, and administrative support services. ACHC also provides medical services to women, infants, children, youth and their families as a Title IV service provider to Some Other Agency Health Center.
